

I object to LPFM station priority over current FM translation service. I start my day and end it by listening to K-LOVE radio in Lexington, Kentucky, as millions of others do within the reach of their signal around the globe. There is nothing else on the air like K-LOVE. It's program content is positive and uplifting and there are no commercials. Taking it off the air would be removing not only a spiritual uplift but would negate the attribute of stress relief in our day and time.
